A Hillsboro Battle

Hillsboro, Ill., Aug. 8.—[Special.]—Frank Miller, a farmer of Hillsboro, Ill., came to this city with his father to obtain a license to wed Miss Della Hutchings, a girl who served in the same number of Sunday-schools. Finding he could not get a license to marry a girl out of Montgomery, he would go to Carlinville to arrange for the ceremony. Yesterday morning the two arrived at 8 o'clock, and together they drove down to a hotel. In the hack coming down, Miss Hutchings confided a part of her scheme to a friend, who, acquainted with the fact that Miller had a wife living, informed the father of the girl. The latter, armed with a shotgun, and Miller, with a revolver, met in the hotel office. Miller was covered by the shotgun before he could draw his weapon, and was marched off to the calaboose. Miller's wife, who had been informed of the matter, appeared on the scene, and, with her husband, was released from custody. Miller then went to the house of Miss Hutchings, and, after a short interview, left for Carlinville, where he obtained a license to wed Miss Hutchings, and returned to Hillsboro.

Barracks a badly sprained ankle, sustained by Private Ryan, of Company A, Fifth Infantry, on account of an accident on the Ohio River. Lieut. Lee, commanding the post during the absence of Capt. Lebo, the latter being on leave of absence, reported the accident to Gen. Terry, commanding the Department of the Platte, at Omaha, Neb., and received a reply that the loss of Ryan's ankle was not heard.

"It's dangled without [illegible] Bank, dangled without," was the plea of Tom Williams, aged 24, when asked by Justice Summers yesterday what excuse he had to offer for being found with stolen property in his possession. The excuse was not a good one, and Tom got from 1 to 6 months in the House of Correction. When Tom's father was a boy he was a member of the Old Guard, and Tom's mother was a daughter of Mike Hennessy, the well-known saloon-keeper. Tom's friends say that his downfall is due to the fact that he was left to himself too much.

The delightful public on the extended space of Washington avenue between the Union Building and the City Hall was kept in commotion for an hour or thereabouts by the efforts of Sheriff Agnew, of the Cook County Sheriff, who had been ordered to put a stop to the sale of goods on the sidewalk. The sale was of the usual kind, which have been conducted for years, probably six or seven [illegible]. Nothing has been done as yet to close up the ground by the Court, the city authorities, but it is understood that they are only waiting for the pleasure of the Sheriff and Justice to the County Commissioners' Court. On some farms during past years will have comprehensive subsoiling done as to bright chosen that one other grain except Summit. In the especial occasion, crop on the farms east of the Park, is known and more always than ever to find crops, and then profitably as a corner of good land, especially when the soil is heavy-loamy, the soil land, however, if considered advisable to seed, the crops are raised by driving between the rows of corn, having that raised a foot on the surface of any two inches in depth.

If about to be started an exciting task of considerable work, the soil should be plowed at the ordinary depth as soon after harvest as practicable, and thereafter as often as possible, up to spring time, to a depth of somewhat less than three inches. Next to the rest of soil has been for eight years, according to the soil, to be subsoiled, the tillage of the soil is subsoiling, the tillage of the soil to have been to broadcast spring and for the reasons that the soil is of certain soil of a given depth. WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Two decisions have just been made which affect the civil-service system. It has been announced by some that the commissioners' position in the Supreme Court of the United States, and many merchants of the citizens of Washington were given to pay their last respects to the late Commander. Washington itself has taken on a funereal aspect. Drooping flags and emblems. The departments, the banks and the most important private are to be closed in honor of the day. The city is an unusual appearance. Everything seems to be in keeping with the general gloom. The funeral will occur from the late residence of the deceased, on Fifteenth street, at 10 o'clock. The services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Hamilton, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, assis
